

Like every year, Technical Park presents a new attraction to the public. 2000 is no exception with the launch of Pegasus. This thrilling and exciting attraction is not one for the kids or for families, it's a full blooded sensation for those who like to feel adrenalin rushing through their veins This totally new project has been studied and developed by Technical Park technical team in collaboration with TUV. This means the highest possible standards of safety, workmanship and materials are adhered to in manufacture.
